Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

I. Claims 1-4, 14-17 and 30 drawn to a cyclic antibiotic classified in Class 530, subclass 37, for example.

II. Claim 5-12 and 31-32 drawn to a process of making a cyclic antibiotic by culturing a strain of Phoma, classified in Class 435, subclass 71.3, for example.

III. Claim 13 drawn to a strain of Phoma, classified in Class 435, subclass 254.1, for example.

IV. Claims 18-29 drawn to a process of preventing or treating fungal disease with a specific cyclic antibiotics, classified in Class 514, subclass 9 , for example.

Inventions III and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product such as in a process for obtaining antibodies or as host cells in processes involving the use of recombinant DNA or for the production of single cell protein for nutritional supplementation.

Inventions I and IV are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product such as for use as an insecticide.

Inventions II and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be made by another and material different process, such as by traditional organic synthesis by cyclization of the linear precursor molecule.

Each of groups I and III is directed to separate and distinct inventions, Group III is directed to strains of microorganisms belonging to a specific species and group I is directed to chemical compounds. The products of groups I and III would be expected to have distinct morphological, functional and physiological properties as evidenced by divergent classification, process of making and process of using. These products are not required one for the other.

Each of groups II and IV is directed to separate and distinct inventions. The method of Group II is directed to a conventional method of making an antibiotic, while group IV is directed to a method of preventing or treating fungal infection. These methods are distinct both physically and functionally, require different process steps and produce different products and/or effects.

The several inventions above are independent and distinct, each from the other. They have acquired a separate status in the art as a separate subject for inventive effect and require independent searches (as indicated by the different classification). The search for each of the above inventions is not co-extensive particularly with regard to the literature search. Further, a reference which would anticipate the invention of Group I would not necessarily anticipate or make obvious the any of the other groups.

For these reasons restriction for examination purposes is proper.

Applicant is advised that the response to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 C.F.R. § 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a diligently-filed petition under 37 C.F.R. § 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 C.F.R. § 1.17(h).
